On Wednesday 3rd July 2019, Alpha Equity Drilling Services celebrated their excellent milestone in safety via providing their employees with an awards night at the Jwaneng Rugby Union facility in Jwaneng. The night was specifically for their employees so the company could convey their appreciation and congratulations for the excellent effort of the team in safety spanning more than 3 years with no lost time injury and in excess of 2 years with no injury related incidents.

The company previously operated as Alpha Drilling Services which has been undertaking work within Jwaneng Mine since 2015. At the beginning of 2019 the company changed ownership with Equity Drilling Services bringing in the international and industry experience changing the company's name to the now Alpha Equity Drilling Services.

One of the key commitment and proactive focus points of Equity Drilling Services is to take the company into the next level of development which is inclusive of establishing the means to support and develop persons not only in the drilling industry of Botswana, but also to establish opportunity via development of Botswana to enter into the mining and drilling industries of Botswana.

Entertainment of the night was provided by SMARH a brilliant Motswana entertainer who was supported and backed up by Davebouy Worx. Our many thanks also goes to Belservest with their excellent catering service and Semol Catering & Décor for the excellent provision for the celebration facilities.

Special thanks and acknowledgement was directed towards Global Training Direct Services (www.gtds-training.com), a local based company who have been instrumental in their support and guidance in assisting AEDS achieve the excellent safety milestone. In addition to the safety support AEDS has also engaged directly with GTDS to collectively establish a Drilling Training Facility in Jwaneng, which is expected to be functioning by the end of July.

Overall the night was a brilliant success allowing the AEDS team to celebrate their efforts in achieving such an excellent performance in safety.
